KRISTIANSAND

- the city of flowers & culture

As the capital of southern Norway, Kristiansand has become known as the city of flowers, rich on culture and traditions and with a "laid back" southern atmosphere. Founded in 1641, Kristiansand tends to pleasantly surprise visitors to the city due to its easy access to the city center with the fish market and old town "Posebyen". From Kristiansand visitors also have easy access to unspoiled nature and can explore the rest of the region by foot or by coach. The citizens of Kristiansand are friendly and relaxed and the quaint city center is easy to get to know, perfect for a one day stop as there is time to shop, walk around and check out some of the highlights.
